GEOGRAPHY: People, Places, and Environments

Content Standard

Students in Wisconsin will learn about geography through the study of the relationships among people, places, and environments.

Standard A.12.9

Identify and analyze cultural factors, such as human needs, values, ideals, and public policies, that influence the design of places, such as an urban center, an industrial park, a public project, or a planned neighborhood

Activity: Students will identify the cultural factors of Milwaukee's music scene and describe how the need for entertainment influenced the construction and design of the gardens and parks.

Directions: Use the Melodies and Memories website located at <http://mkemelodiesandmemories.weebly.com/>

Then answer the following question:

How did the need for music as entertainment influence the design of gardens and parks?
